Envirotrol Announces the Launch of its Chiller Service Business

Our company has long provided custom Building Management Systems that are unique in their design and engineering. We are passionate about consistency meeting customer requirements and are committed to delivering the necessary tools that allow high-quality facility operations to be realized. So, with that commitment in mind, we are proud to announce the launch of our Chiller Service business. We decided to pursue this new endeavor because so many of our commercial and industrial building customers expressed a need for specialized mechanical systems and HVAC products.

“As an EAS company, Envirotrol is excited to have deployed our Chiller Service business, adding to our total technology solution offerings. This division completes our mission to be the most integrated provider in our industry. We are truly One Company, One Team, One Family,” stated Romaine Camera, the Vice President and General Manager at Envirotrol.

While we have long specialized in HVAC mechanical service and preventative maintenance, operations support and facility automation, security, and other offerings, the Chiller Service business will ultimately add to what we can deliver in expertise and service capability as a company.

If you are interested in learning more about our Chiller Service business and how we can help your operations, we would love to speak with you about your individual needs and requirements. We invite you to reach out Envirotrol today for a personalized consultation.
